1. Our Purpose and Mission

Achieveopedia is a Social Empowerment Website. We have integrated over 25 years of research developing our Atomic Productivity training with the power of real time social networking. It's social networking with a constructive purpose. Our mission is to supply the tools and generate the positive infra-structure of support, for those who are striving for greater levels of success, happiness and self-fulfillment.

Atomic Productivity is the fusion of experience, imagination and action, coming together for the purpose of improving personal abilities and creating opportunities. We provide the proven system that enables members to persevere and excel as they help one another to progress and succeed.

Our goal is to create a worldwide outreach, interconnecting ideas and experiences, for the purpose of improving the quality of life for every Achieveopedia member and to empower each member with the ability to have a positive impact on the lives of others.

Many of our achievement methods and services have never been available using the internet for mass collaboration of ideas and support. So, it will be exciting to see what members can do working with one another in this new and exciting success process.

This process is about dedicating yourself to progressive improvement and development in all the important aspects of your personal and professional life.

There is no magic to it, nothing mystical. Atomic Productivity relies totally on the limitless possibilities of the human mind and the determination of the human spirit; utilizing natural attributes – born to everyone.

Atomic Productivity is based on Rational Reasoning. The core of our process is to logically be able to sort and categorize needs, desires, talents, ideas and actions. This is our version of a “life instruction manual.” It is to help people use their talents and abilities to progressively make good things happen for themselves and others.

Achieveopedia offers individuals and businesses another option in the quest to master problem solving, create opportunities and improve results - tapping our greatest natural resource: our imagination and collective experiences.

With the positive support from our “System Organizers” and “Success Communities” Achieveopedia members help one another grow ideas and opportunities while not giving in to fears and excuses.

It is our hope that the 25 plus years of our research and development, along with the collective ideas of our members, bring inspiration and success to anyone who wishes to improve the quality of their life and have a positive impact on the lives of others.

2. Achieveopedia Overview

Our Atomic Productivity System

The core of our system is our Empowerment Atom and our Effectiveness Atom which are universal success applications. The purpose and outreach of these Atoms are limitless.

The diversity of Atomic Productivity enables each of our success communities to interpret and apply our methods and procedures to any given area where growth and positive change are vital to generate progress.

These proven methods enable each member with the ability to communicate and share thoughts and ideas across business, educational and cultural boundaries.

3. Strengthening of Oneself

As we build our dreams, our dreams build us.

Achieveopedia conveys and supports the “Strengthening of Oneself”. Achieveopedia is designed to help accomplish personal transformation from self-limiting characteristics that have become obstacles to one’s achievements.

By determining and recalibrating self limitations, we open ourselves up to a whole new world of possibilities. From there, our newly strengthened creativity and characteristics directly empowers us to capture more opportunities and further enhance our life experiences.

4. YouthAchievia

Our Philanthropic Foundation

YouthAchievia empowers and supports disadvantaged youth.

Since 1985, Achievement Dynamics Institute has reached out to encourage and inspire disadvantaged young people to step-up and succeed.

To continue with this purpose, fifty percent (50%) of all net profits generated by Achieveopedia will be applied to YouthAchievia and other successful youth empowerment programs throughout the United States.

5. Atomic Productivity Training

Training on Demand

It has long been recognized that repetition is one of the most effective forms of retention. It also helps turn new ideas into personal action.

All of our training topics are accessible online, so members can learn success strategies at their convenience. This empowers our members to access information and ideas at optimum times for concentration and learning.

Repetition helps to internalize valuable concepts and perspectives for easy learning. Members will also have the capability of downloading our trainings to their personal listening device. This way, members can review material while performing routine daily activities.

- You choose the training you want, when you want it and how you want it supported
- Online, visual and audio presentations for multi-sensory learning
- Can be downloaded into personal listening device for the convenience of repetition
- Suggested action steps for application and personal integration
- Each training has Power Partner support in our Social Empowerment Network

6. The Empowerment Atom Our Universal Achievement System

We all have a tremendous amount of natural capability. We need to just find the pathway to tapping the resource of our talents and abilities to generate progress and achievement. The Empowerment Atom releases the forces of that underlying potential.

The Empowerment Atom is the hub of Achieveopedia and Atomic Productivity. It allows members to generate the clarity of their wants and needs while organizing thoughts and actions. The atom uses simple but effective methods that operate in an interchangeable achievement system.

Its process has universal applications, enabling members to relay ideas and share information across business, educational and cultural boundaries. The applications and outreach of the Empowerment Atom are limitless.

If all it took was the knowledge and desire to accomplish a goal, most people would be able to maintain good health simply by knowing how to eat well and to exercise. However, empowerment is also needed to actually make the necessary changes in our behavior patterns and perspectives.

The most assured way to our dreams is to transform ourselves into the person that has the skills, habits and perspectives in place to bring our goals and intentions into reality. The Empowerment Atom is used to clarify and apply the simple but powerful success methods that generate life's transformations. It positions the application of our knowledge and creativity behind our heart's desires.

The Empowerment Atom's progressive "inter-connecting metaphors" capture the theme of Power and Energy and helps our imagination connect one set of steps and ideas to another. This gives our thinking tangible images to work with and build on. It all operates in a functional working model.

The diversity of its system enables each member and success community to interpret and apply its proven methods and procedures to any given area where growth and positive change are vital to generate progress.

There is no need to be concerned with your understanding of atoms. How much you understand the functionality of atoms has no bearing on your ability to effectively understand and implement our achievement process.

The Empowerment Atom releases the forces of personal and team potential. Its individual training fields enable each member to...

- Envision, Plan and Create
- Motivate with a Purpose
- Analyze and Target Needs Master Problem Solving
- Improve Skills and Habits
- Develop Positive Expectations
- Apply Tactical Accountability
- Maintain Forward Progress

10. Training Boosters Continually Expanding Library

Our Training Boosters contain dozens of additional training presentations. This is a constantly increasing library of knowledge to boost awareness, success techniques and powerful perspectives. Boosters also contain a library of speeches and messages from inspirational people.

Achieveopedia will continue to collect and organize these libraries to help members continue to gain a greater leverage of ideas and inspiration in the achievement of their goals.

Members may also contribute their knowledge and perspectives as we help one another progress and achieve.

Some of our topics include...

- The Power of Commitment
- Developing Untapped Potential
- Attitude of Acceptance
- The Art of Habituation
- Intentions vs. Actions
- Progress Not Perfection
- Save Yourself from Yourself

- The Goal Setting Myth
- The Law of Diminishing Intentions
- Developing Bounce Back Ability

11. Idea Banks and Collective Intelligence Achieveopedia's Organized Success Blueprints

Every member will be able to supercharge their goals with our organized "Idea Banks" system, a mass collaboration inside each community specific to the needs or "Focus Zones" of that community. Members share information, ideas and perspectives as they develop and achieve specific goals. Their purpose is to organize the succession of knowledge and speed the research & development of effective actions. Members can contribute to an established Idea Bank or start their own topic.

This sharing of information inside the Idea Banks will assist others with similar hopes or challenges and will become a library of best practices. The Idea Bank matrix will grow exponentially, as we broaden our international membership and strengthen Achieveopedia's capital of information and experiences.

In the due course of time, we will be able to service all aspects of society as an internationally recognized and respected resource of powerful information, ideas and methodologies.

12. Online Success Communities Our Social Empowerment Network

The Social Empowerment Network is a service that allows members to unite and excel inside Achieveopedia.

Members can shape, join and customize communities to reach out to fellow members to share their successes, knowledge and experiences. Members have the option to join an already established community, create or join a private community or even start a hidden community of their own with fellow members.

Some functions of Communities:

- Search for Members, Communities and Idea Banks with targeted search criteria and social networking

13. Personal Attention & Guidance

Intake Coordinator – This is our welcome person who has a private meeting with new Achieveopedia sign-ups. From this consultation, it is decided as to the best path the new member needs to follow and which Site Guide would be best suited to the new member's initial goals and objectives. The Intake Coordinator then works with the assigned Site Guide to support the new member in their certification process.

Site Guides – A trained Achieveopedia staff member instructs new members around the site and helps them to incorporate Atomic Productivity into their goals. Site Guides remain in contact with their assigned member to answer any questions while they get acquainted with other Certified Members and Achieveopedia Communities.

14. Certified System Organizers

System Organizers offer non-judgmental, friendly and objective leadership. They are enthusiastic about assisting Achieveopedia members to make positive choices. They also help members to remain focused on their success journeys.

These are members who entered into our System Organizer Certification Program and are trained to offer support services and guidance to our membership. Each have their own Production Center as they help incorporate Atomic Productivity and its applications in the Communities and Focus Zones that they are most experienced in and passionate about.

System Organizers operate independently from one another. They set and determine their own prices, schedules and the types of training and outreach services they support.

They charge in what is called Power Watts.

15. Power Watts Shared Support

Shared Pricing Structure for System Organizer Training Time

A Power Watt is a 15 minute measurement of conference time with a System Organizer. Four Power Watts make up one System Organizer hour. This allows members to share time, ideas and the cost of training. Member's can purchase Power Watt time with a System Organizer for private meetings or share their training and support time with fellow members.

This is a time share process in order to make it affordable to get personal training, meet and work with others as Power Partners. Meanwhile the System Organizer is still being compensated fairly for his or her time and expertise.

A full Power Circuit is four members meeting for one hour so each member has an adequate amount of time for personal participation, clarification and accountability. This also allows cross training to take place and Power Partnerships to develop.

For example: If a System Organizer is $10 a Power Watt they are charging $40 an hour for their time. By members sharing time, each of the 4 members only needs to contribute $10 each for the hour of specialized training and support. The System Organizer splits their earnings with an active Non-Profit in Achieveopedia. Eighty percent (80%) goes to the System Organizer twenty percent (20%) to the Non-Profit of their choice.

16. Income and Career Opportunities

System Organizers are a non-judgmental, friendly and objective voice of reason. They are enthusiastic about assisting other members to make positive choices. They also help members to remain focused on their success journey.

These are members who are trained and certified to offer support services, guidance and training to other members. They help incorporate Atomic Productivity and its applications in the communities and focus areas that they are most experienced in and passionate about.

System Organizers operate independently from one another. They set and determine their own prices, schedules and the types of training and outreach services they support.

Members who qualify may submit their application to become a Certified System Organizer

17. System Organizer Certification

Includes Certification Training and your own Production Center (Positions available in all the Regions and Communities)

- Create your own home based business helping Achieveopedia members
- Design and develop your own teaching and support website and training library inside Achieveopedia
- Sponsorship income of twenty percent (20%) on direct referrals that purchase membership into Achieveopedia.

18. Power Circuit Master Minds

Achieveopedia Members progress in Power Circuits

Power Circuits are meetings of two to four members that can consist of any combination of Certified Members and System Organizers. Their purpose is to advance forward progress in one another's' goals and objectives. Power Circuits allow each member at least 15 minutes for personal processing and strategic planning.

These meetings have interchangeable topics and ideas and keep evolving on daily, weekly and monthly cycles at the choosing of the team. They keep evolving as the progress and growth of goals are strategized, acted upon and achieved.

Their purpose is to:

- Help you stay focused
- Give public accountability
- Measure progress
- Receive constructive feedback

- Keep score on your results
- Generate new ideas
- Help you recommit to your goals and objectives

Power Circuits enable members to navigate their way to their destination by progressively strengthening themselves and transforming their circumstances. They are designed to keep generating a forward motion needed for positive change to take place through measured achievements and tactical accountability.

Power Meetings – Larger group meetings which have more participants, but do not include the 15 minutes per person of strategy or accountability. Power Meetings are more about teaching than personal processing. They may or may not have attendee limitations.

Solution Circles – All participants are there to help one member come up with a number of possible solutions, strategies or opportunities.

26. The Achieveopedia Experience Influential Friendships and Powerful Results

As mentioned in our Purpose and Mission Statement; Achieveopedia is the Social Empowerment Website. We have combined Atomic Productivity with Social Networking. If being a member of a progressive, results-oriented, on-line training and support organization is appealing to you; we are here to serve you.

Each member has taken the time and made the commitment to be the best they can be and to sincerely work toward positive outcomes. Members are certified in Atomic Productivity before they are permitted to develop Power Partnerships with other members. This certification training is included in initiation fees.

Members have also committed to being a positive support to other members of Achieveopedia. This enables each member to reach out knowing the other member has working knowledge of Atomic Productivity and the sincerity of purpose and mutual commitment to make positive things happen.

Characteristics members strive to attain and support...

- Open to new ideas
- Sincere about improving the quality of their life
- Non-judgmental of others or new opportunities
- Willing to work on solutions
- Act with principle and integrity
- Ready to make commitments to experience greater success
- Open to helping others progress and achieve

Thoughtful Warning...Not holding to these virtues, may have an impact on your ability to be a successful Achieveopedia member. Being positive, open to ideas and looking to improve yourself and your results are the standards that make Achieveopedia Members strong and successful.

27. Frequently Asked Questions

How does Achieveopedia compare to Self-Help Books?

Achieveopedia works from a library of customized systems and ideas. Members can choose which ideas would best create new opportunities or strengthen their ability to tackle obstacles. Our members get to choose their goals, action steps and Power Partners, as they shape their own success formulas. We are not a one book, one topic and one author approach.

It's all done with a checklist system, so members can choose the ideas that are relevant to their personal success. Self-help books can be long and complicated – checklists are not.

There is also a mass collaboration of best practices which are continuously expanding through the input of members. Members are able to share information, strategies and perspectives as they develop and achieve specific objectives.

Achieveopedia is about giving members personalized tools to improve self, accomplish their goals and empower one another.

We recommend keeping self-help books for the continued research of additional ideas.

How is Achieveopedia different than LinkedIn or Facebook?

Achieveopedia offers a universal system that interconnects members certified in Atomic Productivity. Members have the training and ability to help one another progress and achieve.

How is Achieveopedia different than One-on-One Coaching?

Achieveopedia is able to service a larger percentage of the population with a greater selection of ideas and support while still offering economical pricing affordable to the average person.

Achieveopedia turns answer seekers into problem solvers. We provide the training and the vehicle for members to work with one another on their success journey. Additional guidance is available through System Organizers for specialized assistance on an as need basis.

How is Achieveopedia different than Motivational Speakers?

The personal motivation from Achieveopedia is realized at many levels.

Motivation inside Achieveopedia is cultivated by having a clearer vision and greater belief in one's ability to achieve our most important life goals.

By developing a greater awareness of opportunities, members gain greater confidence and inspire one another to reach further and dig deeper into their potential.

The member to member support and the guidance allows our members to maintain a consistent level of action and enthusiasm.

How is Achieveopedia different than traditional training programs?

- Achieveopedia is a “customizable success process”, not a curriculum.
- Achieveopedia's members have the ability to choose only the training that is relevant to their goals and intentions.
- Members can also create searches to find and connect with fellow members with like-minded hopes and ambitions.
- All ideas and suggestions in other training and development programs can be applied to our Atomic Productivity System.
